A BOY WITH A FORTUNE

A boy with a fortune is the boy who has one hundred dollars that he himself has saved. His fortune consists not alone of the money saved—and what boy with a hundred dollars would not feel like a millionaire?—but of a valuable lesson learned.

Not only has he experienced the thrill of possession, but he has caught the thrift habit. He has learned to do without useless things. He no longer squanders his money. He has better judgment of values. He has doubtless a far better boy.

Has your boy started to save yet? If he has not, there is no better time to teach him to begin than now—at this bank.

WEDNESDAY, JAN 25, 1922

Mr. Joel Watkins was in town Saturday on business.
Mr. H. M. Burge is breaking ground for a shoe dwelling on Lovers Lane.

M. L. Newbill is spending the winter in Tampa, Fla.
Delegates Horsley, Hicks and Turner are sponsors for a bill to allow farmers Cooperative Marketing Associations in Virginia.

Mr. R. F. Burke is confined to his room to day by sickness.
Mr. R. G. Robertson has sold the McKinney place to Mr. Chamberlain.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson will move into the cottage on Lovers Lane belonging to Mrs. Patterson.
Mr. E. R. Abbott will erect a nice dwelling on his farm on Evergreen road.

If you want plenty of pep, strength and energy, take Tanlac. Chas. F. James.

Notice—Unless dog taxes are paid by Jan. 31st, a 5% penalty will be added.

The young people enjoyed a dance at town hall Friday evening. Music from Lynchburg.

Rev. N. L. Loflin will preach at Central Baptist church on the morning of the fifth Sunday in January.

Our correspondents can aid us by writing every week so that their letter will reach us not later than Tuesday morning.

Correction—In last week's issue J. H. Whitten was announced as one of the delegates nominated at the Tobacco Growers Meeting and it should have been J. T. Whitten.

For Sale—New 8 piece Walnut Dining Room Suite, also 1212 Conglomerum Rug have never been used. Inquire N. A. Wages.

Lost—Beagle Hound black and white spotted, 14 inches high, one black ear and one white ear. Finder will notify O. S. Burnette, Appomattox, Va. or Victor Burnette, Stapleton, Va.

The ballot is now in the hands of the tobacco growers. You will vote Monday the 30th, for 3 men who will meet with other delegates to select the directors who will manage the $100,000 organization of Va., and N. C. farmers.

Remember the hour and come out to the Democratic Mass Meeting next Saturday to elect delegates to the State Convention. There should be a large attendance of the Democrats present. Be on hand at 2 p. m.

Thursday night thieves entered the store of W. T. Cross, at Concord Depot, and carried off about $400 in merchandise. Blood hounds trailed the thieves towards Stonewall when the track was lost. Mr. Cross believes entered car there and drove off with their loot.

It is now doubtful whether Judge Barkdale will hold a special term of the Campbell county Feb. 6th, as Mr. J. L. Lee, attorney for McCormick and W. H. Steel will be engaged in the trial of cases that week in Massachusetts. Therefore it is assumed that all of the cases will go over until the regular March term of court.

The engineers of the State Highway Department have surveyed a route from Prospect by Appomattox to Lynchburg. The survey takes the road along the northern edge of town. Why not have this road to come through town? The cost will be less and will afford tourists an opportunity of seeing Appomattox.

At a meeting of the Agricultural Committee of the Va. Bankers Association held at Virginia Hotel Saturday evening in Lynchburg, called by chairman R. L. Burke of this county, an appropriation of $300 was made to be supplemented by an appropriation from V. P. I. and the Federal Government for the purpose of making a survey of the cost of producing an acre of dark and bright tobacco in the counties of Appomattox and Charlotte. With this information in the hands of the farmers a fair price can be placed on the Tobacco offered the manufacturers. The banks of the State are helping the farmers in every possible way.

Mr. J. T. Dinkine is sick on account of his extreme age he is not expected to recover.

If you are feeling all worn out, if you can't eat, sleep or work with any satisfaction, you need Tanlac. Chas. F. James.

We are glad to have Mr. Tucker Cheatham back in our midst again. Tucker and his wife motored from Wyoming here in a Ford.

Misses Ealiese and Edith Whitlock, of Powhatan Co., spent the week-end with Miss Virginia Netherland at the dormitory.

Forest View

We have had a beautiful snow since last corresponding with you. It was enjoyed, but oh! don't we enjoy the good old sunshine after a week like the past? Some of the people in this neighborhood have been stripping tobacco getting it ready for market.

Mrs. Vernon Tanner has been somewhat indisposed the past few weeks.

We are glad the children of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hendrick are reported better after a severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cheatham near Spring Mills, entertained a number of their friends last Friday night in honor of the former's sister, Miss Lura Cheatham, who is teaching in Campbell county. Despite the down pour of rain, there was a large crowd and the trip of the light fantastic toe was indulged in until a late hour. Everybody seemed to enjoy it please entertain again soon.

Tanlac is the ideal strengthener and body builder for old folks because it creates a healthy appetite for wholesome food and strengthens and invigorates the digestive organs. Chas. F. James.

If you have anything to sell talk over your plans with A.H. Clement. This will be free, and may save you many dollars.

MODERN DAY MIRACLES

The Story of a London School Boy Who Stumbled Upon the Secret of Making Dyes from Coal Tar

(Told in Eight Sketches) By JOHN RAYMOND

No. II
POETS OF SCIENCE

William Henry Perkin was an odd sort of a youngster. When he was 13 years old and a student in the City of London School he heard of a series of lectures on chemistry during the noon recess. Young William Henry decided that the lectures would be of more value to him than his lunches, so he took in the lectures.

Apparently the lectures made a deep impression upon the boy. Two years later he entered the laboratory of a chemist named Hofman in the Royal College of London and by the time he was 17, had started upon his career as a researcher. Perkin decided to attempt to find a way to isolate the benzenethene from coal tar and produce artificial quinine. In order to speed the day when his task would be done he set up a private laboratory and worked overtime. While at work in his laboratory in the spring of 1856, he found in his test tube, while oxidizing some aniline oil, a black, sticky mass instead of clear crystals. He attempted to wash it out with alcohol when, to his surprise, he produced a wonderful purple solution—murex, the first of the aniline dyes.

Ten years later Perkin achieved his greatest triumph when he produced aniline, or Turkey red, formerly made only from the root of the madder. Years later the British government knighted the man who first discovered the vast possibilities contained in coal tar and gave him little financial support or encouragement. It was left to German researchers to build up the industry and finally to obtain a strangle hold upon the trade—a hold so firm that in 1914, the Kaiser was convinced that, with the aid of his chemists, he was in a position to conquer the world.

Creative chemists have since the successors of the chemical business—lately have been called the "Poets of Science." They divide the foreign business in coal tar the franchise on an even basis and share the profits.
